FDIC IS NAMED MANAGING AGENT OF 25 ADDITIONAL INSOLVENT SAVINGS AND LOAN INSTITUTIONS

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation today was named managing agent for 25 additional savings and loan institutions, bringing to 36 the total of insolvent thrifts enrolled in the joint regulatory oversight program announced by President George Bush on February 6, 1989.

The 25 institutions, located in 14 states, will maintain normal operations and all depositors will continue to be protected up to the $100,000 insurance limit.

The joint regulatory oversight teams headed up by the FDIC also include staff from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency and the Federal Reserve System.

As with the eleven institutions previously enrolled in the joint oversight program, the teams will work to minimize operating losses, limit growth and ensure that operations are conducted in a safe and sound manner. As managing agent for the thrifts in the joint regulatory program, the FDIC works to conserve assets and preserve banking services to deposit and loan customers until Congress approves funding to structure a permanent resolution to the institutions' problems.

A list follows of the 25 institutions added today to the joint regulatory oversight program.
