

1 The sample size provides that a variance of plus or minus 2.2 percentage points would occur if all qualified adults were interviewed in the same way. The chance of sampling error is greater for results based on subsamples based on gender, age, etc.

---

Inactive