FDIC APPROVES ASSUMPTION OF DEPOSITS OF THE BANK OF WILSON, WILSON, OKLAHOMA

The Board of Directors of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has approved the assumption of the deposits and secured liabilities of The Bank of Wilson, Wilson, Oklahoma, by American National Bank, Ardmore, Oklahoma. The failed bank's sole offices will reopen on Friday, July 27, 1990, as a branch of American National Bank, and its depositors automatically will become depositors of the assuming bank.

Bank of Wilson, with total assets of about $13.6 million, was closed on Thursday, July 26, 1990, by Wayne Osborn, Bank Commissioner, and the FDIC was named receiver.

American National Bank will assume about $13.8 million in 2,800 deposit accounts and will pay the FDIC a purchase premium of $201,000. It also will purchase approximately $10.8 million of the failed bank's assets, including $1.6 million of the bank's small loans.

To facilitate the transaction the FDIC will advance $2.8 million to the assuming bank and will retain assets of the failed bank with a book value of $2.8 million.

The Board of Directors approved the deposit assumption under its authority to do so whenever it determines that such a transaction will reduce the potential loss to the FDIC.

The FDIC will recover a portion of its outlay through the liquidation of assets not transferred to the assuming bank. In this respect, the FDIC notes that its claim will have priority over the claims of nondeposito creditors and shareholders of the closed bank.
